UNCORKED + UNPLUGGED AT THE LITTLE NELL

Aspen, Colo. (March 3, 2016). Exactly one month from today, The Little Nell will present an evening of wine, film, conversation and live music on Sunday, April 3, from 6 – 10 p.m. The wine-centric event will serve as the ski season closing celebration at Chair 9, The Nell's acclaimed après-ski bar.

The evening will begin with a wine reception featuring red and sparkling white wines available for just $5 by the glass. At 6:30 p.m., all eyes will be directed to the three flat screens above the bar for the finale of "Uncorked," the documentary series on Esquire TV, which was filmed at The Nell last May during the Court of Master Sommeliers' Tasting & Practical Service Exams. (Each spring, the Court holds The Master Exams at The Nell. This year, it will also host the Introductory Course and Exam, as well as the Certified Exam.) Following the Uncorked screening, wine writer Kelly Hayes will moderate a panel discussion about the path to be a Master Sommelier with Master Sommeliers Carlton McCoy of The Little Nell, Jonathan Pullis of Chefs Club Aspen, and Jay Fletcher from Southern Wine & Spirits. Then it's on to the dance floor for an acoustic show from local band Sleight of Hand.

There is no cover for the event, which is open to one and all. Chair 9's drink and food specials will be available until close.
